Huge New Oil Discoveries Predicted in West Canada

By Forbes Rhude
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Discovery of 5,000,000,000 to 10,000,000,000 barrels of oil in western Canada was envisaged last night by Joseph E. Pogue, vice-president of the Chase National Bank, New York, in an address to the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

Curb Sought On Car Lots

Enactment of a bylaw to license and bond dealers in used automobiles will be recommended to city council by the bylaws committee.

The committee is designed to protect the public against unscrupulous and illegal sales.

Under its terms, all used car dealers will be licensed, and a prerequisite to obtaining a license is the posting of a $3,000 bond.

Definition of a used car dealer in the proposed bylaw is a dealer who sells more than three cars a year. Persons who deal primarily in new automobiles, and only incidentally take used cars in payment, are exempted from the provisions of the proposed bylaw.

The bylaw provides that all sales by used car dealers must be reported to the police within 24 hours.

Woman Bullet Victim Is Given Fair Chance

Unaware of her husband's death in a nearby hospital ward Thursday, following a tragic shooting affair at Leduc, 22-year-old Mary Walsh has a "fair chance" of recovery from bullet wounds.

Officials at the University Hospital said today that Mrs. Walsh has a "better than 50-50 chance" of recovering from bullet wounds in her right lung, abdomen and left arm.

HUSBAND DEAD
Richard Walsh, husband of the injured woman, died at noon Thursday in University Hospital after a lengthy shooting, homicide in the head with a .25 calibre rifle.

The 26-year-old Niku oil worker is said to have shot his wife in their Leduc home following a quarrel early Thursday.

Criticism May Cause Discard Of Housing Plan

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.—(CP)—An authoritative source said last night that because of a "riot of criticism," the government is considering discard of an important phase of the National Housing Act under which veterans acquired new homes through controlled prices.

This was the "Integrated Housing Scheme" started by the government in 1945 when there were fears of inflation and when the veterans' need for new homes was acute.

Under the scheme, made successful through cooperation of both contractors and the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, 14,000 low-cost homes were constructed in the last four years at a cost of approximately $210,000,000.

Joseph Sedgwick To Act For Carr
TORONTO, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Joseph Sedgwick, Toronto lawyer who was associated with an unproven allegation that Sam Carr was tried in 1931 for being a member of an anti-Communist league, will defend the Communist leader on current charges arising from the Canadian espionage investigation.

The former deputy attorney-general of Ontario confirmed today that he had agreed to act as senior counsel for Carr who appears at Ottawa Thursday for preliminary hearing on a charge of uttering false passports.

Carl Herman, also of Toronto, will act as his junior counsel.

CALL BULLETIN

Housing Is Available Through Ads

A girl needs a place to hang her hat, even if it's only a frothy bit of feathers and veiling.

But when some girl is a 9-to-5'er she hasn't much time for house-hunting.

That's why Bulletin wants-ads are so approved by time-short seekers. One white-collar girl recently obliged to look for a place to live took a tip from some of her business associates who had found Bulletin want-ads effective, and inserted a three-line ad in the "Rooms, Wanted" section of the classified pages.

Though the ad was scheduled to appear for four days, it was cancelled after the first day of insertion.

The ad also received a reply offering exactly the kind of accommodation she wanted.

Even with items in as short supply as housing accommodation, Bulletin want-ads do a big job for only a few cents.

The Mayor's Speech For What It's Worth

Atlantic Well's Damages So Settled

Quebec Will Ban Sale, Use of Oleo

Bill to Protect Dairy Industry Is Distributed

QUEBEC, Feb. 25.—(CP)—The provincial government distributed today to legislative assembly members copies of a bill to "protect the dairy industry" providing drastic fines or prison terms for manufacture, sale or possession of margarine substitutes.

The proposed legislation, which after passage by the legislature would take effect upon proclamation in the Quebec official Gazette, is designed to prohibit or regulate the manufacture, sale, placing on sale and possession of margarine and other butter substitutes.

It would authorize the provincial cabinet to adopt regulations specifying the products which will come under the ban and methods of analyzing the butter substitutes.

It would permit seizure and confiscation of margarine supplies as well as motor vehicles used for transport and delivery of margarine within the province. It would also authorize the cabinet to draw up further "measures" to apply the margarine ban.

BRIGHT LIGHTS ARE RETURNING TO VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, Feb. 25.—The power "gray out" on the lower mainland of British Columbia will end tonight at midnight.

British Columbia Electric company announced tonight removal of restrictions in effect since Jan. 31.

Steadily-filling water reservoirs following good rains earlier this week made lifting of rationing possible.

Vancouver has been a night-darkened city. Street lights were put out at 12:30 a.m. each day, householders could not use porch or other outside lights, no display signs were permitted, and store windows were darkened.

Cost Is Reported Over $1 Million

Settlement for damages caused by wild Atlantic No. 3 last year has been agreed, according to a report in Edmonton oil circles Friday.

Damage payments totalling $800,000 are to be made, according to the report, and additional $800,000 are to be made, according to the report, and additional $800,000 are to be made, according to the report.

The Atlantic Oil Company it was suggested, will be permitted to take production from its No. 1 and No. 2 wells, but will not be permitted to drill No. 4 on its Leduc quarter section until after two years have elapsed.

CAUGHT FIRE SEPT. 8
The Atlantic No. 3 well blew up last March 3 while drilling was proceeding and was brought under temporary control after 30 hours. Within a few days oil and gas began to break through the ground and later appeared in depressions and shot holes up to a quarter of a mile away.

On May 14 the Conservation Board took over control and marketing of the wild production, estimated to be 7,000 to a peak of 15,000 barrels a day.

The well caught fire September 8 producing a spectacular blaze. This days later the flow of oil and gas was choked off by water pumped to its base through a relief well.

It is understood a meeting of the majority of all parties concerned with damages caused by the wild well was called about one month ago and tentative settlement reached at that time.

No indication is given as to who will receive damage payments that may be made. It is presumed, however, compensation will be made to other Leduc oil companies whose production was stopped or curtailed in efforts to smother the well and to nearby farmers whose land was saturated by oil from the ramping well.

Payment, it is expected, would be made from the returns of oil recovered from the well during its last flow. Production during this period amounted to nearly 1,000,000 barrels of which 200,000 barrels was returned to the ground through Atlantic Nos. 1 and 2.

3 MORE SLIDES
Three more slides, manholes closed the Fraser canyon, 100 miles east here. A conveyer of the Fraser canyon, 100 miles east here, today at Boston Bar, 140 miles east of here for the go-ahead signal, learned new slides had blocked the nearly-transit-Canada Highway.

Two of the slides occurred at Tocco Curve, scene of Tuesday's tragedy which claimed the life of a Vancouver trucker.

An extremely cold day was still hanging on, but temperatures were about 19 degrees below zero. Coldest spot was at Norman Wells, where it was 44 below.

Deal Denied In Dunes Case
Implication that there was a "deal" in the case of L. P. Davis, former publicity director of the Alberta government, was denied by Attorney-General Lucien M. Bouchard.

Mr. Davis was given a two-year suspended sentence in Edmonton this week on a charge of breach of trust. Two other lesser charges against him were dropped. Mr. Davis pleaded guilty to the charge on which he was sentenced.

Edmonton newspapers suggested an explanation of the light sentence and of the reason for dropping the charges should be given the public, and The Bulletin implied there might have been a "deal".

Mr. Bouchard said it was an inevitable rule "in order to avoid multiplicity of action," for the crown to stay proceedings on less serious charges when the accused is found guilty or pleads guilty to the larger offence.

Length of sentence is the responsibility of the "learned trial judge," Mr. Bouchard said. He did not think it would be proper for the agent of the attorney-general to suggest what sentences should be imposed.

Alberta Oil Operator Dies

CALGARY, Feb. 25.—(CP)—J. V. Drumheller, prominent Calgary rancher, died today at his home here.

Mr. Drumheller had operated ranches in the Calgary district, 45 miles southeast of Calgary until 1937 when he sold out the majority of his ranch holdings to devote his time to the oil industry.

He was one of the founders of the D. and D. Oil company and established the Midland Petroleum Co., which has been active in the Leduc field near Edmonton.

Survivors include his widow, one son, James, a petroleum engineer at Redwater, and two daughters in Calgary.

Two of 15 Pastors Admit Sofia Espionage Charges

SOFIA, Feb. 25.—(BUPI)—Yankovskis pleaded guilty today to charges of espionage, treason and black marketing. He was the second of 15 evangelical pastors on trial for treason.

Nikola Naumov, president of the supreme council of the United Evangelical churches of Bulgaria and secretary to the Baptist church union board, pleaded guilty earlier to the same charges.

"I confess I am guilty," Naumov said in a clear voice. "I am sincerely sorry for what I have done."

Questioning of the defendants started after the court president finished reading a 3,000-word indictment charging them mainly in small groups and collectively with the various charges.

Nastan Naumov, pleading guilty, spent the next two hours and 35 minutes reciting a long, repeated confession of his crimes which was interrupted at 12:30 p.m. for luncheon recess. He confessed I am guilty, Naumov said in a clear voice. "I am sincerely sorry for what I have done."

Milk Price Jump Refused by Board

Increase Would Only Be Outside Subsidization

Price paid producers for "number three" milk will not be increased by the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners, G. M. Blackstock, K.C. chairman of the board, stated Friday.

Price increase on this milk, he added, would be tantamount to asking Edmonton consumers to subsidize better production that might be shipped to Vancouver or other outside points.

The board is hearing an application from the Edmonton Milk and Cream Producers' Association for an increase in the price paid for milk, from $4.25 to $5 per 100 pounds.

If granted this increase would boost price of milk to consumers by two cents a quart.

SURPLUS STOCK
"Number three" milk is surplus milk over the delivery quota set for producers for distribution to city consumers.

Fred Blackstock, Bremner, secretary of the Milk Producers' Association, answering Mr. Blackstock, said he wanted milk control retained as long as the control continued to maintain prices as low as possible to the consumer with fair returns to the producer and distribution of the product.

ON UPSWING
While food prices increased 80 per cent over the 1939 level milk had advanced only 50 per cent on average throughout Canada, Mr. Blackstock testified. He admitted the advance in the Edmonton milk shed was 54 per cent.

Again answering Mr. Blackstock, the witness said that milk would be selling at 21 to 22 cents a quart in Edmonton if the present milk control was not operating.

"But I won't do it again," he told the court. "You won't give me the opportunity," replied Magistrate J. Miller, fining him $50 and suspending his license for four months.

GREAT MISSION NEED IN NORTH ALBERTA

Necessity for extension of church and field missions in northern Alberta and North West Territories was emphasized Thursday by Rev. E. H. Birdsell, minister of Central Alberta, at an open session of the United Church's Edmonton-Powerhouse quarterly meeting. Mr. Birdsell said the north is the last remaining frontier in Canada, and the work of the church is keeping pace with rapidly expanding settlement.

He urged early establishment of new field outposts, particularly at Yellowknife. Most northerly United Church outpost now is at Manning, 600 miles north of Edmonton.

Twelve ministers, he said, serve the 80,000 square miles north of Edmonton, in which there are 66 churches and field missions.

Highlights of the general council meeting held last summer, were outlined by Mrs. Fred Miller, president of the Women's Missionary Society.

New pastoral charges will be established in the south Gravelly district, and at Devon, Church land in these areas is to be purchased this spring.

Former City Doctor
Lauds Arthritic Steps

Canada's fight against arthritis today drew the praise of a man whose co-discovery of insulin conquered the early death menace for diabetes.

Dr. J. B. Collier, physician visiting who he calls his "old stamping ground," modestly shelved discussion of his part in insulin discovery in the 1920's, and talked instead about the work of the Canadian Society for Arthritis and Rheumatism.

Now dean of the medical faculty, University of Western Ontario, and director of the medical division of the National Research Council, Dr. Collier's research work while he was at the University of Alberta assisted by Dr. Frederick Banting and Dr. Charles Best in perfecting the use of insulin in diabetic treatment.

NO ANSWER
"Right now, nobody knows the answer to what causes arthritis," Dr. Collier said. The Bulletin branch has 50 known various effective treatments.

"The recently organized society for arthritis is going to grow—it's going to do a great work in helping to make these treatments available to sufferers," he said.

New Building Is Sought

There's a leak in the Treasury chest at Drumheller, but it isn't trying depositors much.

Jordan Taylor, the mining town's local Credit M.L.A. told the legislature about it in the Throne Speech debate today. He says the leak is in the roof and that when it rains the offices of the mining inspector on the second floor get a soaking, but on the second day the staff of the Treasury branch dries raincoats and supplies customers with umbrellas.

He was pleading with the government to build adequate public buildings in its home town, the liquor vendor's store and other offices.

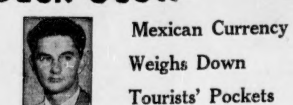

Train Smash Leads To Fine

One more dangerous driving conviction was added to 1949's extra list today when Magistrate Miller imposed a fine of $40 on Nick Cherniack of Bell.

According to police testimony, the accused was driving his truck on 118 Avenue near 86 street at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 24, when he struck the rear of a stationary street car. Cherniack pleaded guilty.

Cherniack pleaded guilty.

In The Farm

By Pat McVean

Alberta's biggest boom in 1948 happened right down in the pasture.

There wasn't an oil well in sight, no mining, newspaper headlines announced the boom and no visiting economist forecast a "promising future" for Alberta as a result of it.

All of which is by way of saying that, during 1948, Alberta's livestock industry—its cattle, calves, hogs and sheep—grew more valuable than all its oil, coal, lumber, salt and natural gas.

Farmers, whose 60-year-old industry in Alberta is second-fiddling in the public mind to current oil and mineral booms, should take a look at L. D. Pawley's report on livestock sales for 1948.

The district supervisor of the Dominion Department of Agriculture's marketing service at Edmonton has tabulated figures indicating the value of Alberta's livestock industry.

The figures are interesting, but put them aside by side with natural resources revenue and they show stock sales are out in front like a high-powered propeller in a breakaway contest with a walking plow.

For instance, in 1948, the value of Alberta cattle, calves, hogs and sheep marketed in the Dominion was $128,762,000.

In the same year Alberta's oil revenues, including that resulting from production at the Leduc wonder field, amounted to $33,127,000—only a little more than one-quarter of livestock revenues.

In fact, just the increase in livestock revenue in 1948 over the previous year was more than equal to the entire revenue from oil production in 1948.

Here and there figures which should cure the farmer's inferiority complex about the job he is doing.

Livestock revenue in 1948 was more than three times that derived from coal, nine times that resulting from production of milled lumber, more than 50 times natural gas revenue and four hundred times the value of Alberta-mined salt.

Total revenue from oil, coal, milled lumber, natural gas and salt production for the year failed — by $43,000,000 — to even the gross sale price of Alberta's marketed cattle, hogs and sheep.

Willington Fans Back Their Team

WILLINGTON, Feb. 25.—A good many hockey fans travelled to Willington Saturday last to see Willington Monarchs defeat the West-Loose Generals at the Varsity Arena in the second game in the series in intermediate "B" hockey. On Monday practically half the village as well as a good many supporters from Andrew and Two Hills travelled by train, bus and car to the city to watch the Monarchs take the game.

Starting from scratch in 1941, the cooperative new handling of most half of Alberta's egg and poultry business, and last year paid poultry producers more than $1,000,000 in final payments.

Executive and farmers meeting at Edmonton this week wisely continued to put their activities on a business basis, called a press conference and told newspaper and radio people their aims and accomplishments.

Other farm organizations could copy the idea of advertising in interesting the public in their problems.

Almost any co-operative could follow the advice for success given by director of A.P.C.

"Start your co-operative with sound financing, run it with care, direction, and management, and build it up with hard good producer support."

Assets of St. Paul Show Sharp Increase

ST. PAUL, Feb. 25.—Fixed assets of town of St. Paul increased $10,000 during 1948, according to the financial statement submitted at the annual meeting of ratepayers, which was attended by only a small number of interested taxpayers.

Increase in assets consists of growing assets, new roadwork, sidewalk repairs, a new road maintenance and minor improvements to the town hall. Liabilities in 1947 stood at $4,000, while at end of 1948 they were $2,400.

The town has no outstanding debentures and is in a healthy financial state.

The meeting discussed a proposed water and sewerage plan for covering an hour and it is thought that debentures will be obtained for this work in 1949. It seems that the quality, rather than the quantity of water is the difficulty to be met. It is hoped that at least two wells may be drilled this year to a soft water level.

Some ratepayers were much in favor of the appointment of a sanitary inspector. A discussion also revolved around the advisability of reverting to the old system of a town constable with other duties as well, in preference to the present system operated by the RCMP. A further discussion on this subject will be held at the next council meeting.

BOOM DOES NOT AMAZE BOOSTER

Canadian life insurance company general manager, Thomas O. Cox, of Toronto, is enthusiastic about Alberta's current boom, but he's not wide-eyed with surprise.

Committee Defers Action

Action was deferred by bylaws committee of city council on proposals from residents against the rezoning of 27 ravine tracts south of the city and east of 73 street. The rezoning is proposed to permit erection of duplex houses for aged persons. Committee members were of the opinion that residents would draw their rezoning objections when aware of the "beauty and planning" of this housing project. Project plan will be submitted to the 22 residents in the district who have opposed the rezoning. It is proposed to locate the duplex houses round a circular drive way. The grounds of these houses, committee men were informed, will be fully landscaped.

City Garage Service Will Come Under Fire

Edmonton's motoring public is invited by city council's bylaws committee to make representations on the adequacy of the present emergency service given by garages and service stations after hours prescribed by the city's early closing bylaw.

The committee will hear representations from the Alberta Motor Association, other organizations and the general public at its meeting on March 10 next. Question of adequacy of the emergency service has been the committee in a request from James A. Christiansen for permission to operate his Jasper Avenue and 101 street garages on a 24-hour basis for emergency service. Regal Motors also sought authority to give 24-hour service.

Man Freed

A. Bruce Smith, K.C. representing Mr. Christiansen, asserted that influx of visiting business men, trucks engaged in the oil expansion and tourists found present emergency service inadequate and inconvenient.

At present four garages are permitted to give this service under the bylaw.

Representatives of the Edmonton Automotive Trade Association said present service was "quite adequate" and demanded the number of 24-hour garages be retained at four.

They also make provision for the collection of a poll tax from non ratepayers after six months residence in the district.

Power for the minister of health, Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, to fix the number of members on a municipal hospital board is included in legislation given first reading Thursday in the Alberta legislature.

Other amendments to the Municipal Hospital Act define as a ratepayer any person who pays a business tax to the municipality.

Beef Prices Reach Limit Federal Agent Tells Group

Prices consumers will pay for beef products are at about the limit, Dominion livestock superintendent J. L. Pawley said Thursday.

He was addressing the closing session of the annual Agriculture Short Course in the Masonic Temple.

"The American market is the determining factor in Canadian cattle marketing," he said. He predicted the second quarter of the year may see cattle in short supply but he warned farmers against expecting an increase in price.

As to the long term outlook for cattle, Mr. Pawley was optimistic. He pointed to an increase in Canadian population of 1,500,000 between 1940 and 1948 and said a similar upward trend had taken place in the United States. There were just that many more beef consumers and he felt that domestic and U.S. markets would provide an ample outlet for some time.

Mr. Pawley concluded by saying "Let's make 1949 the year we begin building up our cattle herds again."

The resolution asks the Dominion government to delay passage of legislation abolishing appeal of the Privy Council for the federal agriculture policy for Alberta.

Vice-president Oliver C. McIntyre of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, brought the three-day course to a close. He said it was the most successful from point of interest and attendance in the history of the event.

Junior Police Force Man Shaved Here

Police Chief Reg. Jennings expressed belief Thursday night that the proposed Junior Police force plan for Edmonton will be dropped.

Despite previous endorsement of the plan by the city police department, the Chief Constable said that in view of Mayor Harry Ainlay's criticism of the scheme it will probably be shelved.

Mayor Ainlay, also chief police commissioner, recently charged that a junior police force, such as the one planned by Constable D. R. "Doc" McNaughton would be similar to a "junior Geopac in this city."

However, McNaughton denied that the proposed junior police would encourage "lolling, loitering or any other Geopac traits."

Replying to the censure of the Mayor and the house and school association district of Calgary, Const. McNaughton said he believed the true purpose of junior police organization is not to keep the peace but to keep the peace.

Garnet HSA, has not yet been told about this idea as other home and school associations have," he said.

McNaughton expressed keen disappointment at criticism directed at his proposed youth organization and at possibility of the plan being rejected. "I wish I were carried in," he said.

Chief Jennings revealed that he had been "corrected" by him in telling the plan to the plan about some parents in favor of directing youth into existing organizations.

"I would be in favor of this," McNaughton said. "If all clubs and athletic facilities were offered to the children without charge."

McNaughton did not know definitely whether he would drop his plan or carry it in the future as a general adviser if civic groups continue to endorse the junior police force.

UP TO PUBLIC "It's up to the public now, so far as I am concerned," he said. "I don't know enough about it to keep it going."

McNaughton began to inform the public of his junior police plan some three months ago through lectures in various community leagues and home school associations.

He received enthusiastic response throughout Alberta and from many business and civic organizations in Edmonton.

An address scheduled for Thursday night at Alex Taylor school was cancelled by orders from Chief Jennings' office.

McNaughton said: "The mayor never once consulted either Chief Jennings or me about the junior police plan. I do not think from the mayor's criticism, that he is fully informed of the scheme or its purposes."

NO ROOM "There would have been no room for any 'informers' or 'sneakers' in the junior police force," he said.

Const. McNaughton has been training a small group of boys at the police gym every Friday night. Designed to build healthy minds and bodies, such training is to be part of the proposed plan, he said.

Equipment for this minor scale training is supplied by the Police Athletic Association.

"These freshly trained will continue," McNaughton said.

Lingerie Bargains Worthwhile Efforts

By Bea Thrifty

Now, before I jump into this thing with reckless abandon I'd like to say this: I am about to expound is strictly a one-man opinion.

It's strictly my noggin working in the way that says lingerie handbags, gloves, blouses, are on the brink of an avalanche as far as prices are concerned. And we're pretty concerned about prices.

Time for January clearance sales, as such, is long since past... but sales linger on and bargains such as delightful gossamer nighties selling for $2.95 are round and about.

Frilly four-fours in neckwear, dummies, blouses are selling in the best shops for as little as 98c.

It all makes you think. It seems especially obvious when pretty red suede bags, styled in available new fashions, are selling for $3.95. These couldn't be had for $3 not so very long ago.

And the same holds for good quality gloves. If we keep hoping, praying and waiting... maybe we'll get a break.

But on to other things. With the variety baby parade slated for tomorrow I felt inclined to have a look at "little things for little people."

The sweetest butterfly yellow silk romper for the wee widget stole my heart and my $2.95. They're trimmed with fine smocking and are easily laundered.

Others styled in silk jersey in white or blue... or in fine broad-club can be had for the dear little urchins for prices ranging from $1.95 to $3.85.

More beautiful for baby in the line of hand-embroidered and smocked lawn frocks, selling at prices varying all the way from $1.95 up to the scale to $2.95 and $3.85.

Baby gowns! The elegant is a fine dish with an arrangement for keeping cool and warm and palatable. But water is poured into the bottom half of the dish... acting as a heating agent for the goodies on the top plate.

One sported a clear top plate so the young 'un could watch his plastic animals frothing about in the hot water. This masterpiece goes for $2.95. Food isn't sufficiently interesting for babies.

Another gem for Mom and the offspring is the plastic drinking cup complete with a clear plastic lid and small holes to allow contents to flow freely into the mouth without spilling all over kindergarten.

This can be had for $1 and may be used without the lid if little Louis masters the cup-drinking business.

Pussy cat! Pussy cat! Pussy cat! in miniature size for the little ones are cute as buttons and just as useful for the little ones.

Bright hankies with Teddy Bears, Bunny Rabbits, Pussy Cats, Frolicking across their surface make run-of-the-mill little urchins handkerchief-happy.

They cost 12c and the tricycle set will love them.

Can't fool me! Kellogg's Bran Flakes are fresher.

GUARANTEED FRESHER!

Don't think... no toaster-crisp in mind! Yes, fresher because they're Kellogg's Bran Flakes.

Try them at no risk! Double your money back if you don't agree Kellogg's are fresher than other flakes. Send empty carton to Kellogg's, Dept. 4-A, London, Ont.

Helpful! Test! Contains the bran many need to keep regular.

A person who really is interesting usually is interested and shows it by listening patiently instead of jumping and waving hands in preparation for a statement of your own.

WHY GROW OLD

Listening With Hands Shows Lack of Poise

By Josephine Lowman

Have you ever had a jumpy feeling when talking to someone? A feeling that the other person is not really listening to you but is sitting on the edge of his chair, waiting to spring forth some remark or story of his own, the minute you close your mouth?

Of course you have met persons you found extremely charming and whom you always are delighted to see? Have you ever realized that on one thing which makes them so likeable is the undivided attention given you in conversation?

There is nothing which makes a person so attractive to us as complete attention and interest and appreciation of what we are trying to say. It makes us feel interesting rather than boring and gives special significance to our ideas. We think, "Well, if such an interesting person finds me interesting I must be more interesting than I thought."

The funny thing about it is that the person who gives us this kind of compliment is usually an interesting person because he or she is truly interested in people and has learned to derive information, humor, inspiration and human interest from all people and from all conversation.

Synthetic interest will not make you charming or popular so it might be well to attack the problem from another angle, by remembering that every human being is a surprise package and is exciting to explore.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Parents' Example Helps Develop Character

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

One of those all-inclusive questions about which mothers ask is: How can I develop character in my child?

What they mean, presumably, is how can they make the child honest, truthful, generous, sociable, and on and on, all traits which society, in general, considers to be desirable ones.

There is another way to assess character and that is to recognize that an individual displays character when he can meet all of life's experiences in a noble way.

That means, of course, that in dealing with the adults around him. The young child spends the largest share of his time with his parents and they are the ones who become his models for conduct.

As a child he will tend to act in childish ways. He will cry when he is mad, he will strike out and hit the person who offends him, he will take what he wants and then probably try to escape punishment by means of a lie. He will refuse to be nice to someone he doesn't like and talk back to his parents when they scold him.

Unluckily, he discovers that such behavior brings him disapproval from his parents. He finds that this isn't the way his family acts.

To me there is more to character than just acting in socially desirable ways, important as that is. It is necessary for the child, from earliest infancy, to be allowed to fulfill his own personal obligations to the family, to his parents, to his friends.

These are obligations no one should assume for him. They weaken the fibre of his character if there is always someone to do his tasks for him, to cover up his misdemeanors and save him the humiliation of facing them or to keep up the fiction that he should be spared whatever is disagreeable or onerous to him because he is a child.

It is only on the foundation of obligations fulfilled and responsibilities accepted, that an individual becomes able progressively to meet disappointment, sorrow and self-sacrifice and develop what the world calls character.

BRIDGE

Read the Bidding To Help the Play

By William E. McKeeney

We used to tell John Well, one of New York's outstanding bridge players, that he was the smallest man in the Army. We thought he was at least one and a half inches under the legal height. When he sent us a picture from North Africa with his gun beside him, it looked as if he were leaning against a telephone pole.

I am always interested in finding out what line of business our former service men have taken up. Well now has a little chain of shoe stores known as Marc Shops, two of them in Newark, N.J., and one in Penikese Park. He still likes to play tournament bridge and he can always be counted upon to find the correct play, as he did in today's hand.

The king of hearts was opened, and when it held, North shifted to the small spade, declarer winning with the jack. A heart was ruffed in dummy, and now there was a problem.

Declarer knew from the bidding that North did not have any diamonds because South would not have bid three diamonds without a six-card suit. Therefore he had to come off the board with a club.

It Well had carefully led the six of clubs from dummy. South would have played the seven and North would have put on the five-spot to let South hold the trick. Then a diamond lead would have beaten the hand.

Winners in the International Friendship week essay competition in the intermediate school have been announced. Contest was sponsored by the University Women's Club.

They are Eric Linneboe, whose essay was entitled "Festivals in Denmark," and Dina Varga, who wrote on "Lige Holiday in Latvia." Winners, who tied for first place, are both Grade 8 students at Garneau school.

Judges were Dr. Donald Dickie and Mrs. F. W. Wootton, who stated:

"The qualities of these two pieces of writing differ. The essay by the 'Lige Holiday in Latvia' is superior structurally; the 'Festivals in Denmark' is more vivid pictorially. These qualities are of equal importance in writing. The decision, therefore, was a tie."
